Des Moines, in the state news, was chosen the "All American City," the East Jazz Band performed, and their picture appeared in the Des Moines paper. President Jimmy Carter came to Des Moines, early in the year, to speak at a banquet for the Democratic party.

Fifty-two East students ushered at the banquet and the East High Marching Scarlets greeted the President at the airport.

Des Moines was shocked by the triple slayings of 3 young boys. They were killed execution style while working at a construction site. At press time no one yet had been arrested for the slayings.

The national news, T.V. shows were very exciting. "Soap," a controversial serial, was aired. "Soap," and "Three's Company" were said to be sex oriented and made marriage seem irrelevant. "Soap" was later discontinued. Cheryl Ladd became a new "Angel" on "Charlie's Angels." Three's Company's Suzanne Somers became America's hottest sex symbol.

In the movie scene, John Travolta started the United States on a disco dancing trend in his smash hit "Saturday Night Fever." Two new stars rose from the metal scraps — R2D2 and C3PO — and starred in the great box office hit "Star Wars." UFO's, spacemen, and flying saucers seemed very real in the movie "Close Encounters of the Third Kind."

The year 1977-78 was a somewhat sad one for the silver screen stars. America lost many of her great performers: Elvis Presley, Bing Crosby, Charlie Chaplin, Groucho Marx, and Guy Lombardo. Many television specials, news articles, and memorandums were given to pay tribute to these great men.

The coal strike crippled the nation, putting many people out of work in related industries.

Anwar Sadat, president of Egypt, made national news by his unprecedented visit to Israel. He later came to the United States to visit with President Carter on world wide peace.

Athletic Events Spark East High Pride On Fire

The school year 1977-78 proved to be a winning year for East High. Our football team placed second in the Metro. The girls' volleyball team came in fifth in the state, Basketball proved, too, that East is the greatest. The girls' ended the season with a record of 24-1, losing only to Ankeny, who later became the state champions. East was rated third in the state all year long. The boys made the ratings several times.

Our Student Government finally obtained permission to get the school emblem out of storage. Now the school has an emblem back in place and we are very proud of it.

The fads at East High went way back to the fifties with bobby socks, spiked heels, and full skirts.

AFFAIRS

School is made up of more than classes, especially in this day and age. A lot of maturing is done in the high school years through extra-curricular activities. Whether it be sports, music, drama, or a club extra-curricular activities provide experience and knowledge as well as fun and entertainment.

The school spirit was definitely flaunted as the student body supported the school events. East was also recognized by KGGO radio station on several occasions as "Football Team of the Week" after defeating No. 1 in the Metro, Valley; as "Basketball Team of the Week"; and as taking second place in the "Principal of the Year" contest. For these East received trophies and a free dance.

We have attempted to present the affairs of our school, not as separate entities, but as a total conglomeration that makes up a school. Thus, instead of separating sports activities, music activities, and clubs, we have portrayed the school year in a calendar by seasons, showing the total effort of all students as a whole.

Big season for Scarlets: 6-3 overall record

The football season was filled with a number of plays on both offense and defense. The Scarlets were led by All-City second team quarterback Steve Sandon, who was able to run the ball as well as throw it. His receivers were flanker Pat Shelley (who was the second leading receiver in the Metro Conference, but received no recognition), end Tom O'Boyle (first team All-Central Iowa) and Craig Tideback (second team Metro at tight end).

When the Scarlets ran the ball, the triple option of Steve Sandon, Bob Wheeler, and Dennis Irvin always kept the opponents on their toes.

Defensively, the Scarlets named themselves the "Junk Yard Dogs." The Dogs held a three-game shutout record before giving up six points to Valley in a 28-6 contest.

Head Coach Bill Charles summed up the season: "This was an excellent group of young men to work with. Our coaches, Mr. Bankus, Mr. Burgett, and Mr. Jock Johnson did a superior job in teaching the fundamentals and keeping our players emotionally aroused for our opponents. We were an exciting team to watch."

In order for a team to have a good running game (which East had), that team must have a good offensive line. Up front doing the job were Scott James, Brad McVey, Doug Kasner, Bob Cronin, and Dwayne DeVries. Dwight Clark started the season on the line, but a broken ankle forced him to quit playing. The best game East played was an upset 28-6 victory over Valley. When East came out in the second half all fired up, it was the line that pushed Valley back and made the holes open up for the backs.

On the other side of the line, the "Junkyard Dogs" gave up a school record of only 258 passing yardage. The defensive line was made up of Brad McVey, Keith Williamson, and Doug Kasner. The linebackers were Don Conklin, John Formaro, and Jeff Cosner, with Ed Sullivan, Craig Johnson, and Tim Powell on the ends.

Head Coach Charles said, "Even though we finished second in the Metro, we all feel that with the climactic victory over Valley, we were really number one."

The overall season record was 6-3; Metro record was 5-2.

Sophs have 4-4 season; frosh record 3-4

Quarterback Randy Waters led the sophomore Scarlets to a 4-4 season. Running backs Mike Warren and Ken Oakley were the leading rushers on the team. The Scarlets also had outstanding performances from lineman Jon Spurrier, defensive tackle Randy Snider, and linebacker Troy Dolph.

In a game with Tech, the team was behind 16-8 before pulling it out 20-16, on a last-second touchdown. The sophomore head coach, Mr. Mohler, summed up the season: "We fought hard all year and we never gave up."

The freshman team ended their season with a 3-4 mark. They were powered by halfback Jim Kline, tackle Jim Stevens, and linebacker Matt Sellers.

Although they had a 3-4 season record, they caused Roosevelt's only loss by defeating the Riders 38-6, who finished the season in first place in the metro standings.

'77 Homecoming is highlighted by Coronation

The gymnasium was filled with the Scarlets' enthusiasm during the Homecoming assembly.

Many groups participated in the assembly. Taking part were Steppers, Color Guard, Majorettes, Student Government, Silent Vibrations, Pep Club, and Cheerleaders.

Highlighting the assembly, Denise Cameron, previous Homecoming Queen, crowned Marilee Fors 1977-78 Homecoming Queen. Her escort was Jay Strauss. The entire court included senior attendant Georgia Glasgow, escorted by Mark Ruths, senior attendant Dixie Myers, escorted by Ron Wicker, junior attendant Joni Maier, escorted by Pat Waldron, and sophomore attendant Angel Negrete, escorted by Osborn Grimm.

Homecoming ended with a dance in the cafeteria Saturday night, October 8, from 8 p.m. until 11 p.m., featuring the group "Luxury."

Festivities, contests, activities, keep students active during Homecoming

Students and faculty were kept very busy with activities throughout Homecoming week. In the door-decorating contest, Mr. Palmer's homeroom took first place and Mr. Johns's homeroom placed second. Another contest involved cake decorating. Senior Debbie Hollen placed first for having the most decorative, edible cake. Dress-up Day, Hat Day, and Stripe-and-Check Day were other events which took place during the exciting Homecoming week.

A parade had been planned, but due to rainy weather, it was canceled.

Spirit was shown by the Scarlets on the night of the Homecoming game, when they lined up in a caravan leading from Grandview Park to Williams Stadium.

Marching Scarlets entertained at pre-game and half-time performances. Highlighting the half-time were two lines formed by the Color Guard, through which the Queen and her court walked, while the band played "Feelings."

That night, the Scarlet football team won a victory over Hoover, 7-0.

Steppers active in assemblies, parades, games

Looking for girls with a nice general appearance, sweet smiles, poise, sharp turns, and coordination, Mr. Bury (Band Director), Miss Greenhill (Stepper Sponsor), two Stepper captains from the previous year, three senior Steppers, people from various schools, and one member from each of the three groups — Human Relations, Student Government, and PTSA — chose the group of girls who are called Steppers.

Steppers performed at football and basketball half-times, and at pep assemblies. Unusual innovations such as choreography, flashlight routines, and clever maneuvers were used. The Steppers also performed at Valley High School on November 14.

Marching Scarlets highlight half-time at K.C. Chiefs' football game Trying for a closer unity were 180 members of the Marching Scarlets. They all worked together — 110 band members, 46 Steppers, five Majorettes, and 19 Colorguards — to form a large group of performers.

Football fans were entertained during pre-game and half-time performances. The groups also performed at Kansas City's Worlds of Fun, and band and Majorettes performed at half-time during a Kansas City Chiefs' game. Mr. Bury, the band director, said, "They looked good and performed well. It's nice to be at a pro game."

Silver Dollar City was another place where they performed successfully, in April.

Many fund-raising projects were undertaken: selling socks, cheese, and candy were just a few.

The sophomores were enthusiastic about becoming a part of this group. Mr. Bury said, "It was better and bigger than ever before. There were more sophomores interested than ever."

Hard practices pay off for girls

Keeping busy almost every day, the Steppers, Majorettes and Colorguard practiced.

Steppers, with their red and black uniforms and pom-poms, went to summer practices from 7 till 9 a.m. three days a week.

Majorettes had a different schedule. At first, they practiced from 6 to 8 in the evening, then switched to 6 to 8 in the morning. They tried new things. They twirled fire batons at the Homecoming game. At Christmas time, they used flashlight batons at an assembly.

New uniforms were worn by the Colorguard. They, too, practiced quite a bit. It took time and discipline for them to learn new steps.

These three groups have spent many hours practicing, and their performances were appreciated by spectators.

Boys 3rd in Districts; girls 6th in Metro

Cross country had a well balanced team effort. They ran well, placing high in numerous meets, and were paced by Brad Brown, Mark Crawford, and Larry Hudson.

The boys' team finished third out of 17 teams in the districts and eleventh out of 68 teams in the state. They ended the year in fourth place in the Metro. The coach of the team was Mr. Phipps.

Junior Mark Crawford started the year as the number three runner, but ended in the second position. There were 22 people who finished the season, and 16 lettered.

Two difficulties hurt the girls' cross country team. They were hampered by injuries and by not having enough girls out. There were only five girls out and one of them was injured. The team had to forfeit several meets, in which they weren't permitted to run because there were not enough members. The tri-captains of the team were seniors Sue Tarr, Joan Green, and Roberta Michener. Teresa Satterfield and Colleen Collette were the other two runners. The team was coached by Mr. Graves.

Sue Tarr was the number one runner until she was injured.

Scroll features some controversial subjects

Rape, marijuana laws, teacher apathy. These were just a few of the controversial issues tackled by the Scroll Staff. The article on rape included information, advice, and an interview with an officer from the Des Moines Police Department. The pros and cons of the legalization of marijuana and some reasons for the lack of enthusiasm of teachers were covered in other articles.

Another interesting article was Kevin Brown's report on loopscooping. It caught the eye of TV 8's reporter Jim Worthington, who interviewed Kevin and several co-editors for a television news spot.

The Scroll Staff attended three journalism workshops throughout the year to get new ideas on how to produce a better newspaper.

English grades and a reputation for responsibility are determining factors in choosing the Scroll Staff. The editors, managing editors, and business manager were appointed.

Volleyball team unbeaten in Metro

One of the fastest-growing sports in Iowa is volleyball, and it really got into full swing at East this year. Under the coaching of Miss Grabill, the volleyball team compiled a very impressive overall win-loss record of 24-2. They went undefeated in the Metro, won the Indianola Invitational for the third consecutive year, took first in the Districts, and were rated fifth in the State.

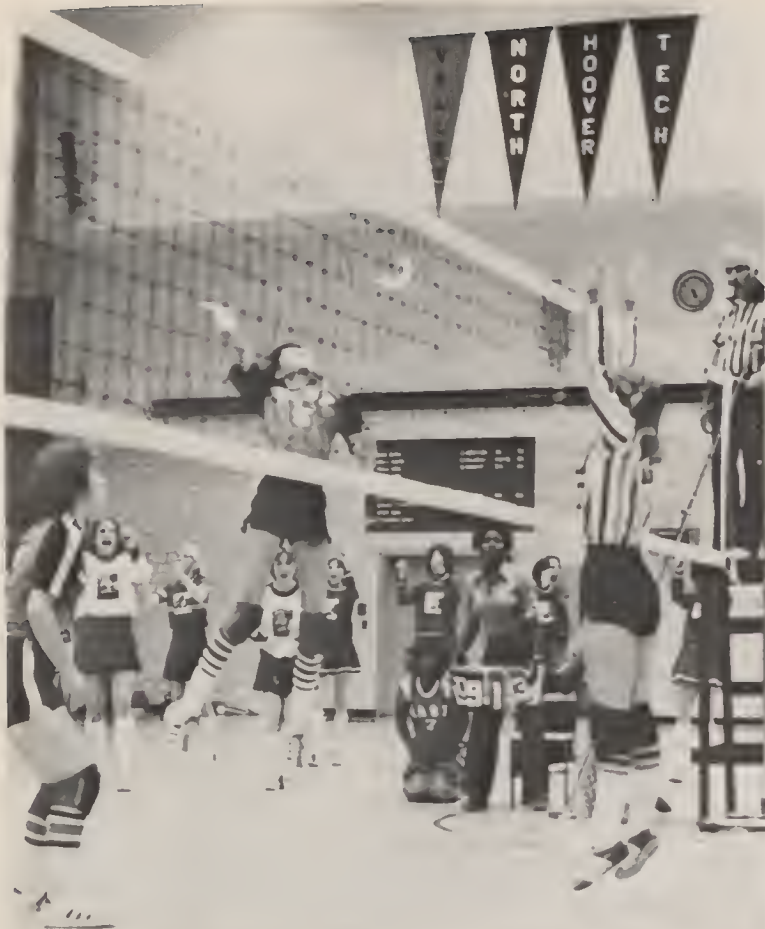

For the first year, volleyball had All-Metro teams. Four East players were named to them. Named to the first team were Kari Kramme, Vivienne Cooper, and Cindy Brun, and named to the second team was Diane Cameron. Terri Pfundheller and April Brun received Honorable Mention. On the state level, Kari Kramme was named to the third team, Cindy Brun received Honorable Mention, and Special Mention was received by Vivienne Cooper.

'Bell, Book, Candle' witches, witchcraft

Starring in the fall play was senior Tammy Kennedy as Gillian Holroyd and sophomore Tim Kalvig as Sheperd Henderson. "Bell, Book, and Candle" was about wicked witchcraft, and takes place in Gillian Holroyd's apartment in the Murry Hill district of New York City. The witches and wizards belong to a coven. The first scene is in Gillian's apartment on Christmas eve.

Mr. Waller directed the play, which included a total of five cast members. Cindy Colburn played Miss Holroyd, Leonard Wilkison was Nicky Holroyd, and Ken Bricker portrayed Sidney Redlitch.

With all the expenses involved in the play and low attendance, there wasn't much of a profit, so Mr. Waller decided not to put on a musical play in the spring.

Pep Club gets students into school activities

Where does East get all its pep and PRIDE? They get it with a lot of help from Pep Club.

Almost every Friday morning at 7:30, members of Pep Club met in the auditorium. At that time, the Pep Club officers told everyone about all the upcoming activities and athletic events and encouraged everyone to go and show his enthusiasm.

They also made signs to inform the student body about activities. All that paint and paper takes money, so throughout the year Pep Club sold T-shirts, sweatshirts, gym bags, frisbees, bumper stickers, and pennants.

Pep Club has approximately 200 members and any student at East can join.

The officers this year were Shelley Pickett, president; Sue Jarnigan, vice-president; Sharon Fevold, secretary; and Tami Love, treasurer. The club is under the sponsorship of Mr. Sloan, chairperson of The Science Department.

Girls' Club gets new name, has productive year

One certainly can't say that there's any discrimination between girls and guys around here. Girls' Club got its name changed to 'E' Club so guys could join if they wanted to. Only a few joined, but they couldn't say they didn't have the chance!

During their busy year, 'E' Club did many things for the service of East. Among them were making and delivering fruit baskets to the 21 retired East High teachers in the Des Moines area, decorating the library at Christmas, and sponsoring a pep breakfast, a Younkers Teen Board fashion show, which was the first fashion show put on by the Teen Board themselves, and the Spinster Spree.

Girl swimmers break 7 school varsity records

Can you imagine swimming eight miles a day, each day? That's what the girls' swim team did, before and after school.

Trying hard to get as many participants in the state meet was their main goal.

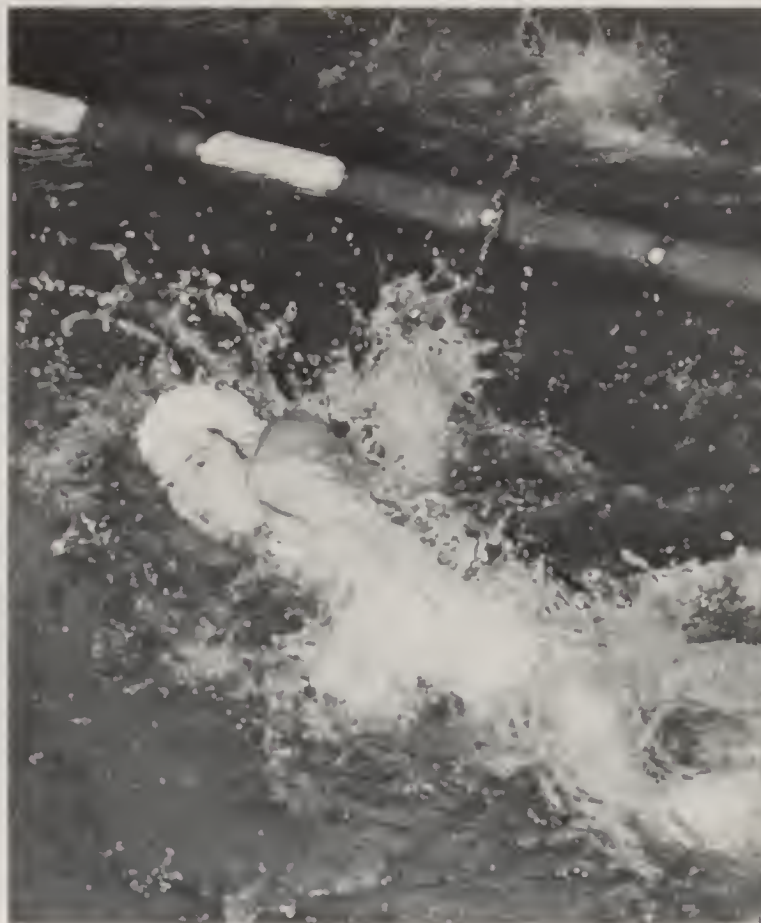

Shari Walling qualified in the state meet, swimming the butterfly stroke. She placed eighteenth overall in the state.

Seven varsity records were set. Janice Beghtol, Lisa Fellman, Shari Walling, and Tammy Howard broke the varsity record in the medley and free-style relays. Shari set four other records, including the 200 individual medley, 100 butterfly, 100 free-style, and 500 free-style. Nancy Weiland set the record in diving, completing six dives.

Twenty-six girls served on the team.

9 make All-State Choir; Majorettes work with fire

Becoming a member of All-State Choir is not an easy task. Twenty students from East tried out, along with 6,000 other high school kids. Out of that 20, nine made it. Two out of 20 from each school was the average, so East's having nine in the All-State Choir was quite an accomplishment. In November, they performed at the Hilton Coliseum in Ames.

With flashy sequined suits, batons of every variety and those always-smiling faces, the Majorettes added a feminine touch to the Marching Scarlets. They performed at all home football games and traveled to Kansas City with the Marching Scarlets to perform at half-time during the Kansas City-California game.

Flaming batons were an added feature in an October assembly. It took many hours of practice and a lot of singed hair to master these batons.

DECA a learning chance; Human Relations relate

Learning all phases of marketing is the purpose of DECA. It's made up of three different areas: classroom instruction, club activities, and on-the-job training. Classroom instruction included human relations, business mathematics, advertising, display, personal economics, and merchandising. Club activities included civic activities, election of class officers, social events, and an employer-employee banquet. In on-the-job training, students earned wages and credits by working in the areas of their occupational interests.

Human Relations is a committee that was formed in 1973 to help students gain a better understanding among themselves as individuals. The 25 members represented all grades, Native American, Latinos, blacks, whites, males, and females.

Cagers miss state chance by only 1 point

In addition to a fine season record, the team just barely missed a chance to go to state, losing to Ottumwa by only one point. The team tied for third with Dowling in the Metro Conference. Head Coach Sutherland said that the 10 seniors led the team in experience and leadership.

Gary Leach led the team in rebounding and scoring, with an average of 10.5 rebounds and 21.8 points per game. Jeff Williams averaged 19.4 points per game. Bob Smith averaged 7.5 assists per game. Steve Sandon averaged 12.6 points and 4.8 rebounds per game. Todd Nelson averaged 7.7 points.

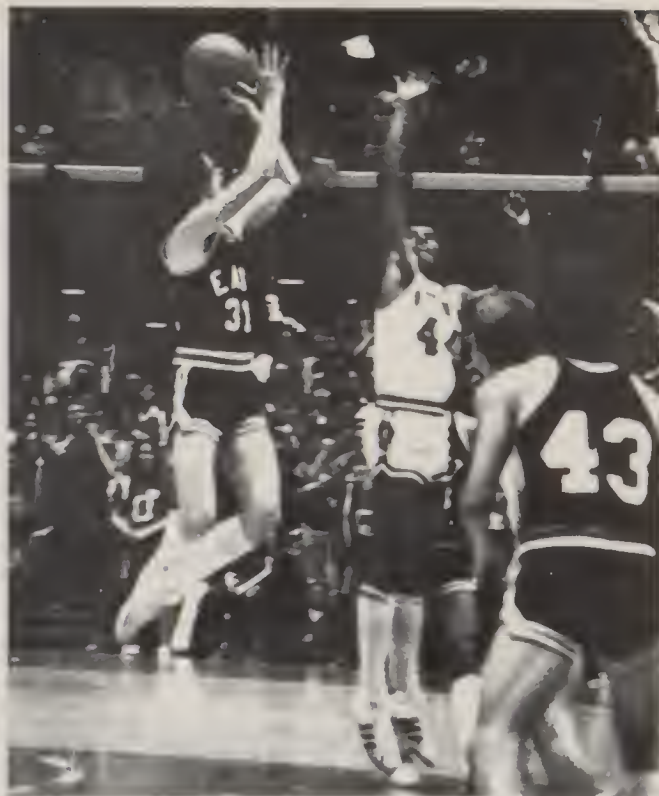

Leach and Williams were chosen on the All-Metro second team. Leach placed on the All-Area second team and Williams received honorable mention.

Sophomores considered close-knitted team

The sophomore basketball team had their wins and defeats, but Coach Hall was pleased with the team. He described the team as "close knitted" meaning that the team had plenty of team work.

The team lost their leading scorer and rebounder at mid-season, causing the team to end the year with a 9-9 record. Coach Hall believes, though, that the outlook for junior varsity is good because of the quality of this year's sophomore team.

A Cappella Choir strives to gain harmony in great variety of music

Voices blending in harmony with a minimum of instrumental accompaniment is an objective of A Cappella choir.

The group, including 65 members, learned their music exceptionally fast, enabling them to set a standard of excellence, according to Mr. Carnes.

Fourth hour was spent rehearsing a variety of music, including popular, classical, spiritual, and folk songs.

A highlight of the annual Christmas concert was the performance of Benjamin Britten's "Ceremony of Carols." A feature of the program was the harp accompaniment.

The choir also traveled to Goodrell, Wilson, Hoyt, and Hiatt Junior Highs to share their talents and to spark an interest in the choir for future East students.

Concert attire was tuxedos and checked gingham long dresses of an assortment of colors.

Students try out each spring.

PRIDE Club promotes image

Promoting the Real Image Desired at East is the purpose of PRIDE Club. The group sponsored several projects to carry out this cause.

They received recognition from the mayor for their participation in the All-American City Celebration.

They also tried their hand at scaring people by working at the Jaycees' haunted house for Halloween.

When keeping the lunchroom clean became a problem, the group made posters to help solve the problem.

To acquire money to fund these projects, the group sold pennants and programs at the football games.

Mrs. Adams, Mr. Christian, and Mr. Ogle sponsored the club.

Kiwanians meet Des Moines businessmen

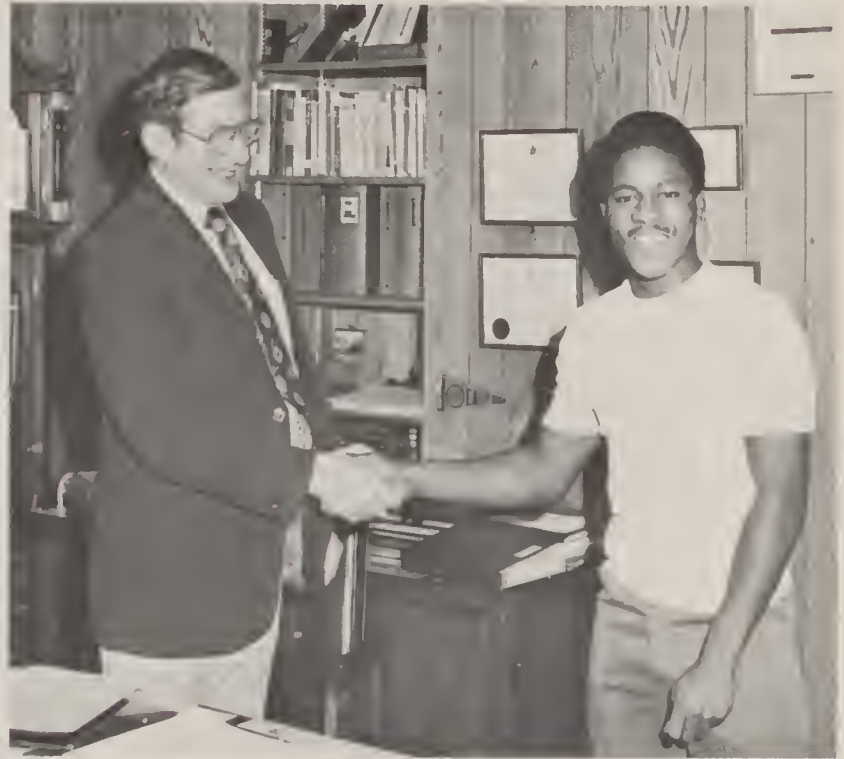

The principal, Mr. Miller, each month chose one male student as Kiwanian of the month to represent East at the Downtown Kiwanis Club.

Meetings were held at the Elbon Club twice a month on Wednesday afternoons. While attending the meetings, the students were honored for their participation in school activities.

The Kiwanians were selected for being exceptional in their areas of interest. These areas included sports, music, speech, Student Government, and journalism. Their academic records and extra-curricular activities were also considered.

Mr. Miller, although a member of the East Des Moines Kiwanis Club, frequently attended Downtown Kiwanis Club meetings with the students.

The meetings gave the students a better chance to get acquainted with Des Moines businessmen.

PTSA, Booster Club carry on School Projects

The Booster Club is made up of students, parents, alumni, and others who are interested in the school's program. One purpose was to raise money for athletics and other school-sponsored activities.

Running the concession stands during athletic events was the biggest money-raiser, but the annual Pancake Day was the biggest event held.

The Parent-Teacher-Student Association's purpose was to promote the welfare of youth in the home, school, church, and community.

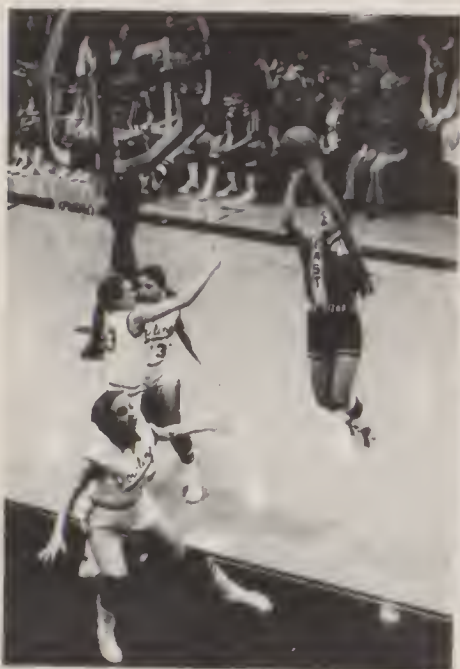

Helping the student-aid fund and buying school materials were the main contributions of the PTSA.

Girls place 1st in Metro; rated 3rd in State

Undeniably, the girls' basketball season was a great one. The team, offensively, was the best in the state, scoring an average of 86.2 points a game. This is the foundation that provided the building of the following records: the first girls' Metro team ever to have an undefeated season, with a Metro record of 14-0; they were also the E.W. Cooley Christmas Tourney Champions, and the Metro Champs as well as the Sectional Champs.

As the season began, the victories seemed normal. However, as the victories mounted up, each game was an event enveloped in tension.

During the tournaments, the excitement reached climactic points as never before. The team witnessed a boisterous army of red-dressed Scarlets. Students, teachers, relatives, friends, and neighbors flooded the tournaments to see the Scarlet as it always is — ON THE MOVE!!!

Forwards 86.2 scoring average, best in State

The basketball saying for the year was "East was great in '78." Part of the greatness was to be found in the offensive court.

The Kramme-Forest-Bauman combination dominated the forward court.

Kari Kramme, a junior, had a blistering 74.9 percentage for free-throws, making 170 out of 227. Kari also led the scoring with an average of 31.9 points a game.

Judy Forest, also a junior, led the offensive court with an average of 1.2 interceptions a game.

Lorri Bauman, a sophomore, led the team with the best percentage of completed field goals of her attempts. She made 259 out of 383 attempted, for a 67.6 percentage. Lorri also led the offensive rebounds with 3.7 a game.

Strong defensive moves help guards defy opponents in high-scoring game

The guards as a team mastered a total of 583 rebounds. Senior Tami Love pulled down 181, junior Diane Cameron 99, and senior Veany Cooper 91.

One of the team's best players was Tami Love with a 2.2 interception average per game, and a rebound average of 7.5 per game.

During the Metro Conference, the defense gave up an average of only 60.6 points per game, where as the opposing defense gave up 88.2 points per game.

Offensive and defensive team totals were 860 rebounds.

The team rebound average was 34.4 per game; 23.3 came from the defense alone.

Spirit, determination make strong team

A lot of exhausting practices and strong determination go into a good basketball team. The sophomore girls' basketball team had a lot of close games, but their spirit never slackened. Team spirit and good sportsmanship were the key words as the girls made their way through the season.

Coach Brand commented that the team improved a lot toward the end of the season when they played some of the schools for a second time. Assistant Coach Sheldahal worked with the girls and helped to coach them during their games.

Most of the girls displayed a lot of talent and ability that will carry them through to future seasons. The girls practiced all year round, but the first organized practices started in the third week of October.

Members of the top three percent received white cords, and the members of the top 15 received red and black cords. The cords were presented to them by Principal Miller during the Class Day assembly.

Subjects taken by these students differed as much as their backgrounds. Interests varied greatly, also. Many were involved in activities both in and outside of school.

Through these top honors and acknowledgments, many were able to look toward college. Their academic achievements made it easier for them to win scholarships that otherwise would have been unobtainable.

New ideas help Student Govt. remain active

Take two students from each homeroom, two senate members from each grade, plus four officers and you have Student Government.

The group's purpose was to promote good relations between students, schools, and community. They also boosted spirit and pride.

Getting the school emblem put in a wall in the lobby was just one of their projects. They also took on filling out index cards for the KGGO Principal of the Year contest. It was a close race and East came in second place. The group sponsored the Homecoming dance and activities for the week, such as dress-up, farmer, and hat days. During the football season they had caravans for which the students decorated their cars and made processions to the games.

The Inter-city Council met once a month to plan activities for the Des Moines high schools. The council is made up of six students from each school.

Many special thoughts of 12B are treasured

Decorations of red and silver, formally dressed couples dancing to the music of the group "Last Shades of Dawn," photographs being taken in a snowy winter setting — all these are memories of the annual 12B dance.

The excitement took place on the evening of December 29 in the Grand Ballroom of the Fort Des Moines Hotel.

A "coketail" party was held before the dance for the 60 hostesses and their dates. Dancing was from 8 to 11:30.

Each of the hostesses and her date recieved wine glasses bearing the "Winter Wonderland" theme.

The seniors who wished to be hostesses began making plans in October. Committees in charge of decorations, program design, door prizes, and tickets were chosen. Miss Greenhill and Mrs. Lodden served as sponsors for the dance.

It was a night that will be long remembered by those who attended.

Photographers face responsibilities

Taking pictures was just one of the many responsibilities of Quill and Scroll photographers.

Quill photographers had the tasks of taking and enlarging the pictures to the correct sizes that were to be used in the yearbook. Being creative was also an objective they strived to achieve. Using creative ideas, they were able to add life to some normally dull pictures.

Scroll photographers had the job of taking pictures that were used in the school newspaper.

Ad sales reach record $7000; Choir very busy $7000 was the highest goal ever to be set and achieved by the Ad Club. The goal was achieved by using less selling time, averaging less than one day a week.

There were two classes of sales each semester, which provided stiff competition between students. Prizes were awarded to the top salesman and the top class.

Students discovered all phases of selling, from retail to wholesale and industrial. The class also gave students a good opportunity to meet businessmen in the community in a professional atmosphere while learning of the world of sales.

Stage Band maintains busy schedule

Stage Band was busy all year long. They took a trip to Silver Dollar City near Branson, Missouri. The band also visited Cedar Rapids, where members won two awards for solo performances. They also presented shows for persons in retirement homes.

The director, Mr. Bury, always has talented people, and this year members showed it when they got together their own band, the Presley Band.

The Presley Band performed for all types of shows, school assemblies, and events outside of school. The band includes four members: Bruce Fillman on drums, Chris Leto on the organ, Mark Trusheim on lead guitar, and Terry Archer on bass guitar.

For 1st time, Debate team hosts tourney

The debate team has been on the run all year long. They have been to tournaments in Minnesota, Nebraska, and Iowa. In November the team ranked third out of 32 schools when a tournament was held in Des Moines.

For the first time the debate team hosted a debate tournament at East. Schools from three states participated, except East's team, which had the responsibility of running the tournament..

Scarletaire Singers come back into action

Starting with a very enthusiastic group, the Scarletaires returned for another year. "The reason for starting this chorus is because we felt a need for the group so the sophomores would have the same chance to sing as the juniors and seniors," said Mr. Carnes.

Scarletaire members were selected by Mr. Carnes from student singers who auditioned. There were 14 members in the group. They sang different types of selections, such as folk songs, spirituals, and pop music. The group dressed in formal-wear gowns and tuxedos.

They sang in school assemblies and outside of school, in places like nursing homes, junior highs, churches, and clubs. The Scarletaires also performed at Merle Hay Mall.

Sights, sounds, of AV, TV Production crews

Many groups performed important functions to keep the school running smoothly. Two of these were the Audio Visual and TV crews.

Some of the tasks of the Audio Visual (sound) crew included setting up and operating the sound equipment for assemblies, meetings, sporting events, and classrooms.

Places such as the auditorium and big gym have built-in sound systems, but portable sound systems sometimes had to be set up in individual classrooms or out of doors.

Another group that performed important services for the school was the Television crew. They had to video-tape many kinds of activities, such as guest appearances, musical group performances, and other performances that could be taped for later presentations to allow the guests to visit the school for a shorter period of time and still provide their talent to be used other hours or other days.

Rehersal sessions of dramatic, marching, musical, or other performing groups, as well as athletic teams made use of the video sessions to correct faults or to improve their visual image.

Many of the school athletic events were video-taped to provide a "Chalk Talk" format, which the coaching staff and teams used to evaluate their performance.

Some students were in both groups.

Wrestlers hampered by abundance of injuries

Despite the losing record, the wrestling season was described as a good year by Head Coach Lutz.

Injuries hampered the team all year including six varsity starters, which accounts for half of the starting line-up. This gave many of the underclassmen a chance to participate at the varsity level but also accounted for a lack of experience. Injuries were so frequent that the varsity line-up was different at every single meet.

The 1-8 record was very deceiving. In four of the eight losses, the Scarlets won five matches to the opponents' seven.

There were many consistent and outstanding performances throughout the year.

Junior Dwayne Devries and seniors Rick Smith and Jay Strauss placed in every tournament in which they wrestled, including two first-place victories by Jay.

Rick Smith and Jay Strauss finished the wrestling season by placing third in district, which didn't qualify them for the state meet.

The team had an abundance of underclassmen. There were 14 sophomores and nine freshmen on the team for the entire year.

New to the job of printing instructor was Mr. Hines, who called his first year "an experience." His new teaching job included areas from introduction of graphic arts and learning to operate printing equipment to refined printing techniques.

Dance programs, office forms, and tickets used by the school were just a few of the jobs the printing staff had. They printed almost anything the school needed, including the school newspaper.

Mr. Hines commented that it was really satisfying work, because of the good students that he had to work with.

Office Education students learn as they earn

Earned as they learned — that's what the office education students did. The students worked halfdays at various places of employment and received school credit and pay.

Work began in the summer or fall and ended when school was out, although about 50 percent of the 31 participants stayed on and worked full time when the school year ended.

Typing, filing, answering the phone, and using a copy machine were some of the jobs the students did.

To pay for state and national dues and take the bosses to a luncheon held January 19, the participants sold T-shirts, Mark VII cleaning fluid, candy, and items from Top Kat Kits.

State, regional, and national conferences were held so that students could compete in contests of office skills.

JA, orchestra: a lot of hard work, creativity, and learning are involved

Learning about business first hand is what Junior Achievement is all about. Fifty companies were involved in selling stocks; choosing a method of payment; and selecting, making, and selling products. A few of the products created were Nutty Nuts, macrame hangings, and decoupage boards.

South Ridge Mall became a marketplace for the companies to display and sell their products when Trade Fairs were held there.

A highlight of the year was an awards banquet in May.

Every year since Mr. Bury, the director, has been at East, the orchestra has grown. This year was no exception. Wind instruments were added, making a total orchestra membership of 24.

Symphonies and classical music were played at the Christmas and spring concerts and during a performance with the All-East Orchestra (made up of junior high and high school students).

Gymnastics team practices hard, wins tourney third consecutive year

As with any other athletic event, it takes many hours of practice to achieve perfection in gymnastics. The gymnastics team practiced every night after school, and it helped them acquire a 5 and 3 record for the season, along with second in district competition and sixth in regionals. Lisa Bowen, a freshman, placed high enough in regionals to qualify for the state meet, in which she placed sixth in all-around competition.

For the third consecutive year the team won the Urbandale Invitational Tournament, giving them the privilege of keeping the traveling trophy.

The team's top score came in the district meet with a 144.7. A score of 138.35, acquired at the meet with Lincoln, proved to be the best regular season score.

The girls competed in the events of vault, floor exercise, uneven parallel bars, balance beam, tumbling, and all-around (competition in every event). Most of the girls had one or two events on which they concentrated.

Scoring for the events was on a scale of one to 10 with 10 being highest. The total was made up of a possible 3 points for difficulty, 1.5 for originality, .5 for composition, 1.0 for general impression, 2.0 for execution, and 2.0 for amplitude.

Fifteen girls made up the team: two seniors, six juniors, two sophomores, and five freshmen.

The concentration needed to perform on the balance beam is shown by senior Mary O'Hara.

Mixed Emotions appear on television show

Members of last year's Barbershop Quartet formed this year's Mixed Emotions. The group raised their popularity by making television appearances on shows like "The Dolph Pulliam Show." They performed for all types of affairs, public and private.

The quartet usually practiced after school, working to blend their voices together so that they could capture their audience's attention every where they went. The group was originally formed last year when Mr. Carnes held tryouts for the Barbershop Quartet.

The quartet included three all-state winners in barbershop quarteting. Tony Turner, Mike Carley, and Edward Barker. The other member of the quartet is Gregory Baker.

Tankers have record-breaking year; hard practice produces top results

With another year in the annals of history, the boys' swimming team has left the record books changed.

Practicing some days at lengths over 10,000 yards helped many swimmers break or tie previous records. Kent Dalrymple and Randy Greenwood both left their names on the records as many of those records were broken.

The team, coached by Mr. Gaeth (head-coach) and Mr. Thompson (assistant coach), compiled a 5-5 dual meet record this year.

For the second consecutive year, the Scarlets took the S.E. Polk Invitational meet in which five teams participated. Also doing well in the Boone Invitational, the Scarlets placed second out of four teams.

With close meets and records broken as they were, Coach Gaeth commented, "All around, it was most likely the best season in ten years."

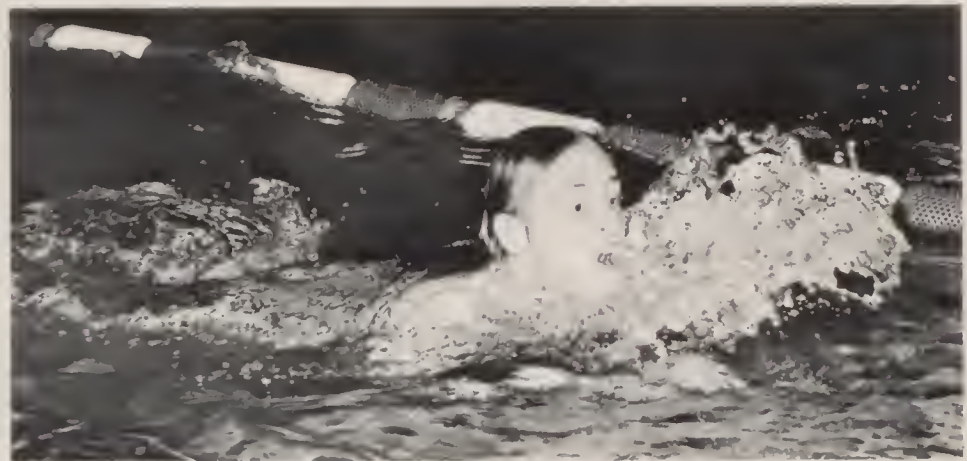

Topping off the season was a trip to the state meet by five Scarlet tankers. Seniors Kevin Nelson, Randy Greenwood, Chuck Hall, Kent Dalrymple, and sophomore Jim Watland went to the state meet, set some varsity records, and came home with 20th place in the state.

Girls display talents through many victories

Winning is always the main objective and in girls' sports the goal was obtained throughout the year in many events. This page is dedicated to all the girls who participated in sports because their talent, on and off the field, was appreciated by the student body.

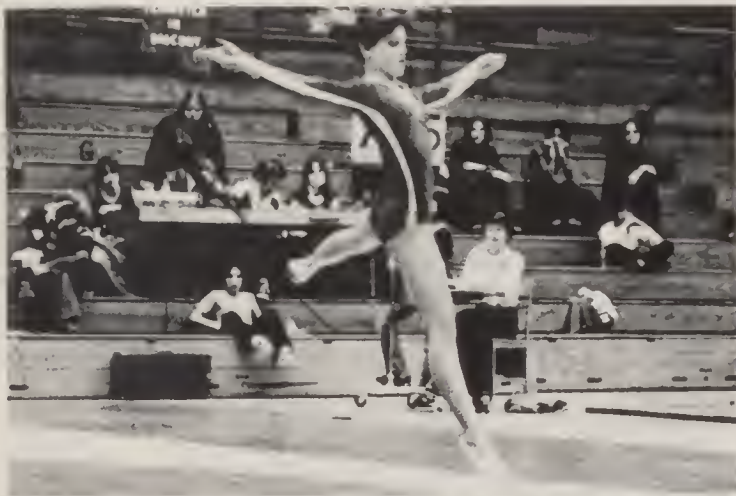

The girls' softball team started the season off by winning the Metro Championship. Their talent was passed on to the volleyball team, who came in fifth in the state. Next came the girls on cross country, who placed first several times and came in second five times. Then the swimming team came in first three times out of seven meets. Finally, the basketball team showed their ability by having a perfect season and becoming sectional champs.

These outstanding seasons proved that with the backing of the many supporters and the varied talents of the performers, victory can be achieved.

'Sesame Street-Road to Happiness' brings fantasy to Spinster Spree

Cookie Monster? Grover? Attending Spinster Spree? Having characters from Sesame Street as guests of honor was one of several ideas "E" Club, the Spree sponsor, had for the Spree.

"Sesame Street-Road to Happiness" was the theme for Spree. Besides having the special guests of honor, students of "E" Club coordinated all decorations with the theme. They also hired the band "The Last Shades of Dawn" for listening and dancing pleasure.

Other activities provided for the evening were the marriage booth, the fortune tellers, the jail booth, and the election of King and Queen and Spree Court. Mr. Lethcoe was on hand to take pictures of couples for a memento of the evening.

The dance was semi-formal with the tradition of the girl asking the guy and paying for the evening.

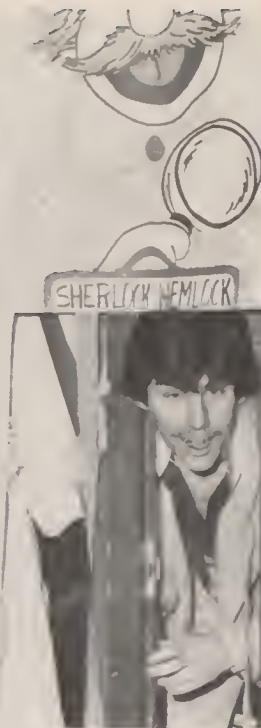

Another tradition of Spree was the girls making boutonnieres for their dates that coincided with the theme. The boutonniers were hand made by using original designs, but the girls could buy boutonniers if they wished. Boutonniers were judged and the results of the contest were: Larry Kalvig, best theme; Kevin Maughan, most creative; Mike Chance, runner-up; and Doug Kasner, overall winner.

Federally funded programs such as Upward Bound were offered for students. The purpose of the program was to make students enthusiastic about furthering their education.

The group was founded for students who had the potential to continue in school except for a weakness in at least one area.

There were nine members. These students were required to take four academic courses throughout the summer. At the end of every summer, the group takes a three-day trip to places like Chicago or Kansas City as a final activity.

New clubs are often formed each year by students. One example this year was the Creative Writing Club. Many students in creative writing classes felt the need for this group and organized it themselves.

The officers were Judy Crooks, president; Sharon Snyder, vice-president; Linda Leto, publicity; and Renee Batye, treasurer.

Silent Vibrations was a group of 18 students who created and performed original mimes and dances. Ms. Gaines (Sponser) commented that each member was gifted and talented, and they all did the work themselves.

Their selection was based on a tryout, attendance record, grades, discipline, and attitude.

The annual Silent Vibrations show took place in March. The theme was "Good Vibrations" and it included dance numbers and a different variety of mimes.

Besides the annual show, performances were held at Drake University, art fairs and exhibits, and elementary schools.

Junior students tour Washington, New York City

The United Nations Tour took place during spring vacation. Students, including many East students, traveled from Des Moines to New York City and Washington D.C.

Students who were chosen were first rated in many areas of merit. Mr. Miller, principal, reported on their responsibility, reliability, and conduct to those selecting the group. Each student submitted a recommendation from an educator, a business leader, and a community leader.

In New York, students attended the Broadway play, "Annie," took tours to Manhattan, the Empire State Building, the Statue of Liberty, the World Trade Center, the Rockefeller Center, Radio City Music Hall, and the U.N. Building.

5-level mounts, pom-pom routines capture interest of student body

Practice very Friday morning before school, and summer practices three days a week really paid off for the cheerleaders. They performed the most difficult routines and mounts in the city, such as the five-level mount.

Pom-pom routines highlighted many assemblies. These routines were learned at camp, and were put to music by the cheerleaders.

Some cheerleaders attended a Dynamics Cheerleader Association camp in the summer of 1977 at Buena Vista College in Storm Lake. They came in second place in competition, and this was a very big honor. Another honor they received was their being pictured in the Spirit Book, which shows different mounts used.

The cheerleaders got their cheers and mounts from the Spirit Book and from camp. They also made a lot of them up themselves, and many were passed on from years before.

Besides cheering, and performing in assemblies, they decorated athletes' lockers for upcoming competition. Sophomore cheerleaders received new uniforms, and wrestling cheerleaders received new sweaters. All squads received new letters.

The sponsor was Mrs. Lodden. Each cheerleading squad had captains, chosen by each squad. The captains were as follows: Varsity - Cindy Murrow, Junior Varsity - Sharon Tomlinson, Sophomore - Lisa Jacobson, and Wrestling - Sheryl Eaton.

The cheerleaders cheer at most of the sport events, which include football, basketball, swimming, and wrestling.

Successful Key Club goals to assist others appreciated by many people Participation in activities that would benefit the school and the community were Key Club's main goals. These they accomplished in various ways.

Popcorn sales were used to purchase chickens and turkeys for food baskets. Collecting canned goods from students and faculty helped to fill the baskets. Distribution of these baskets brightened the Thanksgiving holiday for many needy families.

Key Club participated in bell ringing for the Salvation Army. This activity took place at various businesses.

Assisting in the Homecoming parade was another one of their activities. The purchasing of a Christmas tree for the library was still another.

Students in the club said, "We've found it very rewarding and worth-while to help others." This might have been one of the reasons for the club's growth in membership.

Colorguard has skill, displays energy, talent

While observing a Colorguard performance, one may be unaware of the time and effort put into a single routine.

Physical energy was most important in the many long hours of practice. Every detail was gone over again and again, until the precision the group is known for, was attained.

But don't get the idea it was all work and no play. The girls got to participate in activities like going to Worlds of Fun and attending a Kansas City Chiefs' game. Social activities, such as pizza parties, movies, or just gab sessions were held once a month.

All the girls agreed that it was a lot of hard work, but they were rewarded by the student body's attention and respect. Colorguard included five juniors and 14 senior members.

At the Christmas assembly they introduced a new routine entitled, "Statue of Liberty."

16-page supplement includes spring

In an attempt to stay with spring delivery of the yearbook, and yet include many spring activities that would otherwise be omitted, a 16-page fall supplement was added to the book.

The supplement included most senior activities, such as prom, graduation, and class day. Spring sports and the spring play were also included. The supplement was to be distributed in the fall, at school, to the sophomores and juniors; and seniors are to receive theirs in the mail.

Spring delivery was once again planned because of a vote taken last year, when students voted in favor of spring delivery.

Some members of the staff attended a one-day fall workshop on producing the yearbook. The workshop was held at Drake. In the summer of 1977 three members of the staff participated in a week-long yearbook workshop at Iowa State, where they were introduced to new techniques and ideas for creating an interesting yearbook. The three members were Larry Kalvig, Linda Cowie, and Debbi Cornell.

The artwork of the Scarlet Indian, which was the cover design, was drawn by seniors Tom Bush and Dan Ridout.

Scarlet Singers present variety of programs

The Scarlet Singers, directed by Mr. Carnes, performed at Christmas parties, banks, the YMCA, the Salvation Army, and the three junior high feeder schools.

They combined pop music with choreography at their performances. During the holiday season, the Scarlet Singers presented a Christmas program entitled "The Christmas Story." It was performed in the school auditorium.

Props and costumes were needed for their performances, and the Singers raised money by selling fruit, candy, popcorn, candles, and light bulbs.

There were 16 members — 14 singers, a drummer, and a pianist — in the ninth edition of Scarlet Singers.

FRIENDS

The people we associate with are very important to us in all stages of life, including our high school years. The friends that we make in high school often develop into long-lasting relationships. What would studies be like if we had nobody around to prod us? What would all the extra activities be like if there were nobody who cared enough to make those long hours worthwhile?

Friends for our high school lives came from the ages of 15 to 65. They came from the ranks of sophomores, faculty, and administration. They were the ones who made our days interesting and our work easy. They are the ones who are pictured in our "Friends" section.

New students EVERY year! say teachers

Teachers go through the same rituals year after year: new students, new students, new students. This page could be termed "faculty mood" because teachers express themselves in different ways. All in all, teachers sometimes put up with or withstand all kinds of things we as students throw at them.

Mr. Martin busily prepares for the final days of school.

Administrators handle busy year; personalities fulfill different roles

Being a principal isn't as easy as it looks. Mr. Miller's job as a principal included helping coordinate Student Government, assemblies, after-game dances, and movies.

Besides supervising the student body, he also had the jobs of being in charge of staff development, the building budget, community public relations, staff evaluation, and supervision of curriculum development in Business Education, Industrial Education, and Social Science.

This was Mr. Miller's second year. He came to East from May Goodrell Junior High School.

Mr. Miller commended the student body on their improved attitude toward school.

When a student hears the name of an adviser, the first thing he thinks of is discipline. Being an adviser, though, has a lot to do with academics.

Mr. Powell, sophomore class adviser, was chief administrator whenever the principal was absent. He also supervised curriculum development in Physical Education, Driver Education, and Home Economics.

Mr. McCollaugh, junior class adviser, had the primary responsibility of curriculum leadership in English, Language, Science, Music, Industrial Arts, and New Horizons. All four administrators participated in teacher evaluation.

Mr. Bagdonas, senior class adviser, was in charge of clubs and activities. He was also in charge of the curriculum development in Art, Math, Communications Media, Learning Disabilities, and Work Study. All three men are assistant principals.

Foreign language clubs bring new foreign cultures to language pupils

If foreign languages was one of a student's favorite subjects, he had the opportunity to become more involved by joining one of the foreign language clubs.

If he was interested in Spanish, he could join the Spanish Club, which was open to all students who studied Spanish. They went to the Boston Flamenco Ballet at Drake University.

They had lunch at El Patio Restaurant, sold candles and candy, and made pinatas during the Christmas season.

The French Club had a picnic, a hayride and chicken fry, a bowling party, a ski trip, and trips to different French restaurants, including one in Omaha. There were 86 members who paid $1 each for membership. The president was Bill Knapp; vice-president, Sue Arpy; and secretary, Roxie Johnson.

In the German Club, there were activities such as visiting the Amana Colonies, eating at a German Restaurant, and sponsoring "St. Nikolas" day December 6. They went on a ski trip, and in May they celebrated the senior members' graduation with a picnic. There were 38 members; co-presidents were Debbie Flamm and Lyleann Richey; vice-president, Frank Herman; treasurer, Rick Moorhead; and secretary, Martha Carlon.

Foreign language teachers try new, unusual methods with students

Singing songs in a different language is one of the teaching methods used by the foreign language teachers to help the student learn how to pronounce foreign words.

Not only did the foreign language classes hold sing-a-longs, but all three language groups had their own ways to get a student used to foreign customs.

In French, there was a French breakfast, a crepe day, and a fondue day.

In Spanish, students set up a candy shop and had guest speakers.

In German, there was a German breakfast, and members decorated a Christmas tree with German decorations.

The students enjoyed the new techniques used by the teachers.

Team teachers help students with problems

Different concepts and ideas are what team teaching in Social Science is all about. The team teachers were Mr. Murphy, Mr. Thompson, and Mr. Neal.

In this method of teaching, the students are given three different opinions and are given a chance to observe the differences in the way they are being taught.

One interesting class in the Social Science Department was Man and Society. In this class students were offered instruction in such courses as criminal and civil law, and World Wars 1 and 2. Emphasis was placed heavily on criminal and civil law due to the extent to which society depends on the justice system.

Students also learned about influential people of the 20th century, and the Lindberg kidnapping case was another subject studied.

Soc. Sci. makes student look at life head on "Variety" was one way to describe the Social Science Department; "diversity" was another. One of the main concerns of teachers was bringing students new ideas through new methods of teaching. This was accomplished in the Social Science Department.

All seniors were required to take government and economics. These classes showed the student how our government operates and how government funds are kept, made, spent, and earned.

Some methods of teaching these ideas were, besides team teaching, field trips and independent work and study. Many different classes took field trips to such places as the courthouse and the county jail.

All the Social Science classes, besides the ones mentioned, showed the students a small slice of problems they can expect and how they will be able to handle such problems themselves when they are on their own.

In U.S. History, Mr. Bankus shows his students maps.

Students fight energy woes at top institute

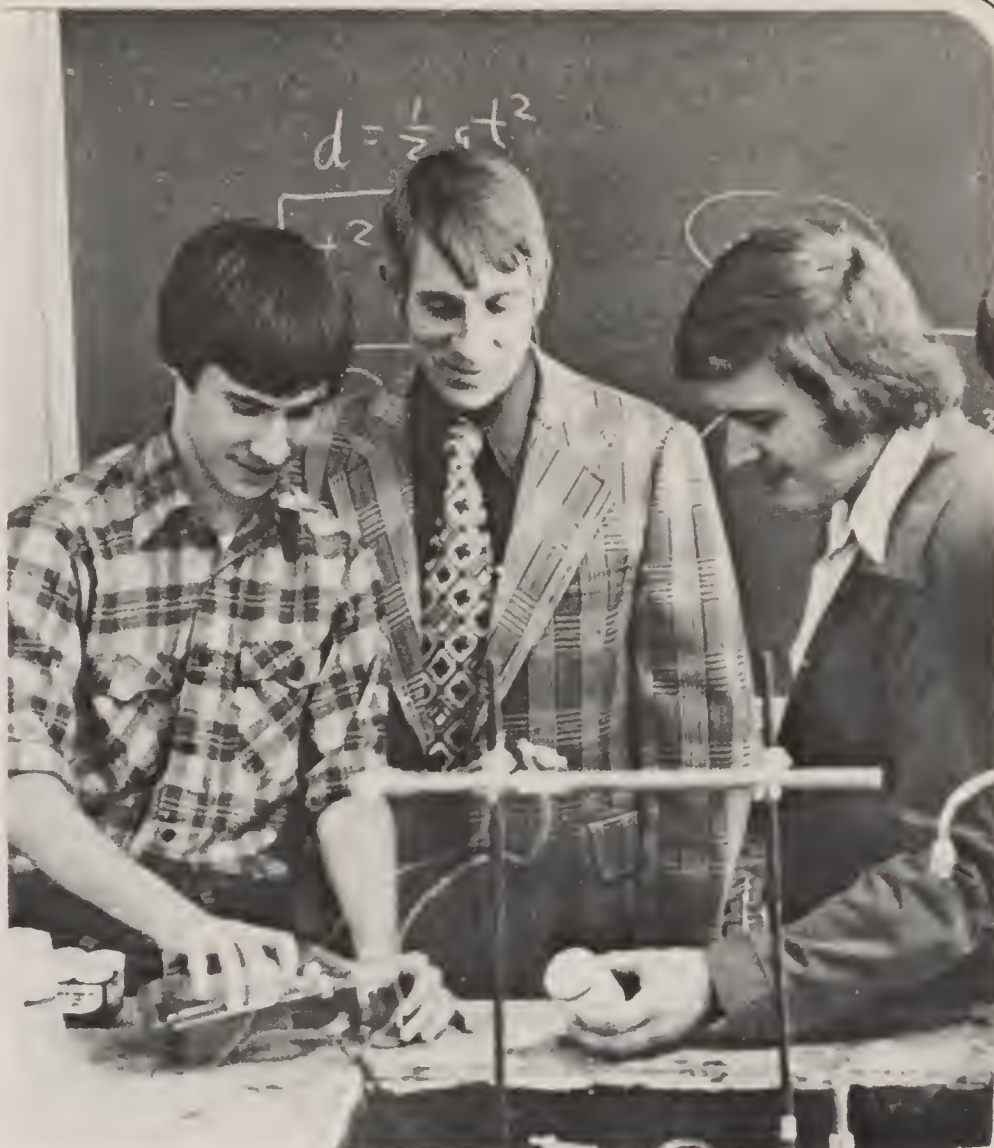

If a student liked to explore and discover a variety of things, he should have enrolled in the Science Department, which includes a variety of classes ranging from biology to Nurse's Chemistry to physics.

Franklin Herman and Linda Leto were chosen to attend the Edison Institute (an energy conference in San Diego). They were selected on the basis of their interviews, essays, and scholastic records. The trip was February 9-11, and they were accompanied by Mr. Peterson, science teacher. The expenses were paid by Iowa Power and Allis Chalmers.

Science Club was an exciting club and included 20 members. Activities were planned for each month, such as a trip to the Biology Building at Drake University.

The officers of Science Club were president Patty Reeves, vice-president Deanna Noble, and secretary-treasurer Franklin Herman.

Comm. Media is good news; math figures up

Printing, journalism, photography, and television production. Those are the four areas offered to students in Communications Media.

Communications Media is a three-year program. The sophomore year is an exposure year to all four areas. In the student's junior year, he chooses the areas he wants to continue in, and receives instruction. In his senior year, he gets experience by actually producing East High Publications.

In the Math Department, there was quite an enrollment increase. There were five teachers, each having five classes a day. The classes ranged from basic math to Calculus. Calculus had the largest enrollment with 19 students, six of them girls. An annual math contest was held in March.

Big change takes place in English; New Yorkers entertain students Covering all the aspects of the native language, the English Department offered courses covering literature, grammar, composition, and speech.

For the last several years, the study of American Literature was combined with American History in a course entitled "American Studies."

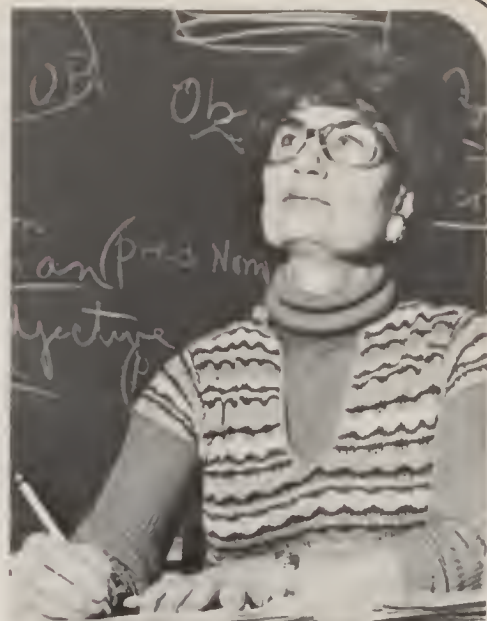

American Literature has now been established as a separate course within the department and emphasizes fiction, non-fiction, and poetry.

Visitor acts Shakespearean roles; changes of paces with 2 new faces

Through English, we learn to use our language properly and study the contributions of authors like Shakespeare. A performance by Ms. Krause, a Shakespearean actress, thrilled a selected group of English classes. Ms. Krause gave excerpts from Shakespearean plays, — "MacBeth," "Romeo and Juliet," "Antony and Cleopatra," and "Hamlet" — some of the classics from Shakespeare. She performed for English students in November.

Two new teachers were added to the department. They are Mr. Palmer, who teaches Sophomore English, Humanities, and Rhetoric, and Ms. Youngs, who teaches Reading Improvement.

To 'tic-tock' or to 'wrought-iron' is the question

New creations bloomed in the Industrial Arts Department: making schoolhouse clocks, restoring antiques, and making wrought-iron decor.

Mr. Winegar, who teaches woodworking, felt that making the clocks provided challenges to the students because of the degree of difficulty involved. Each student set clock movements. The clock project lasted 13 weeks. Mr. Winegar also introduced restoration of antiques, in which he stressed angular cuts, along with the schoolhouse clocks, and routery (working with design moldings).

Mr. Mommer, who teaches metal shop, began teaching hot metals, a new project, and wrought-iron decor, also a new project, in which students learned to design various decorative structures.

Drafting is the language of industry. Mr. Martin, drafting instructor, put the emphasis of drafting on pushing for more self-help, which caused the student to think more. It is very helpful in drafting to have a background in math and industrial arts procedures. Mr. Martin said, "The depth of what the student learns is based on what he puts into it."

Notes, pantomime plus art equal fine arts

Notes, notes, notes. A Cappella Choir and Scarlet Singers, two vocal music groups, made many appearances. A Cappella appeared at junior highs and Scarlet Singers performed for clubs, businesses, and nursing homes, as well as competing in a state contest. Mr. Carnes's biggest goal was to reach the public, especially the student body.

ABOVE: Seniors Mike Carley and Harold Sanford practice a pantomime routine. RIGHT: To achieve the right sound, Mr. Carnes interprets his idea of a song by directing The A Cappella Choir.

Presenting their spring show in March, the Silent Vibrations performed at various places throughout the city. They performed for school functions, fairs, and different senior highs, junior highs, and grade schools.

Visual communion was the emphasis in art classes. Students learned art forms, shapes, and lines as well as other techniques.

Art Club began two projects: making pillow kits and silkscreening T-shirts. They tentatively planned an out-of-town trip to an art exhibit. The club visited the Des Moines Art Center as well as various other places throughout the school year.

Business Ed. shows students job concepts

Students wanting a place in the world of business found courses to aid them in the Business Education classes.

Students learned the basics of business in typing and Business Exploration, while those students who were a little more ahead in these areas found stronger challenges in such classes as Clerical and Secretarial Practice.

Another interesting class was Accounting: this class taught the student how to balance such everyday things as a checkbook or a financial record.

There was an Office Education Week February 12-18. On February 24, Office Education participated in a Des Moines Regional at the American Institute of Business. Two of the many fund-raising projects were Mark VII sale (all-purpose cleaner), and Reese's Peanut Butter Cups.

With the correct training, students found what they wanted in business.

Food, clothes, children — all make up part of Home Economics study

Learning about life and all it has to offer were what students got out of the Home Economics Department. Each student faced everyday problems and situations that they would face during real life.

In Child Development classes, students watched the day-to-day growth process of a young child, and at the same time, they learned how children react to different situations and how to handle a child. Another interesting class was Personal Family Living. In this class students learned about marriage, dating, and personal family life. Guys wanting to learn more about domestic duties found what they were looking for also.

Many of life's questions were answered in the Home Economics Classes. Students made their own decisions about their own problems.

Counselors, secretaries have many duties

Counselors were very concerned with absenteeism and the rate of student dropouts. The school board conducted a survey to find out the reasons for the problems in these areas.

While putting a foot down on absenteeism, counselors had a bright outlook about the rest of the year.

Paperwork, research, and government forms were just some of the duties of the secretaries. One might call them "public relations workers." They had much to do, but each day was different, preventing the jobs from becoming boring.

Custodians work for school

Cooking and cleaning were two tasks that most persons would not want to do every single day of the year. Well, there were some people who did just that — cooked and cleaned — every day of the year: the cafeteria workers and custodians.

The custodians made sure that the school was clean and neat. They came early and opened the doors long before the students were up.

Cafeteria workers made the meals and cooked those "hot" cookies every morning. Mrs. Pierson, head of the cafeteria staff, has been here since 1962, and will retire this year. She said it never got old or tiring, because she liked the kids.

These were just a few of the many jobs performed by the custodians and cafeteria workers — jobs done each and every day.

Seniors' last year filled with mixed emotions

When the class of '78 entered the doors of East high as sophomores, it was a new experience for them. A large building, new teachers, new friends, and plenty of homework, but with a little encouragement, most made it through the next two years.

As the end of school neared, many questions had to be answered: "Where am I headed?", "What do I want for a career?", "Do I want to go to college?", "If so, which one?"

The questions came from everywhere, and decision making became confusing; however, by spring, things started falling in place, and members of the class of '78 were on their way. The future full of challenges and trying times ahead, and a past of the same behind. What will happen to the class of '78 in the future? Only "the Shadow" knows!

Blankets of snow whiten seniors' last winter

Linda Selover and Becky White, both seniors, display an "E" in some of the snow that has been abundant this last winter. They decided the snow is a good place to work off some extra energy.

Winter proved to offer more than just cold weather for some seniors. Many were able to go skiing at Montezuma, a small ski resort in Iowa, with the language classes, providing an educational trip as well as an entertaining one.

Opinions of winter varied among the seniors. It was described as a bother to drive in, but on the other hand, some felt it was a beautiful time of year. Winter had an effect on the mental state of some. They described it as a serious time for work and study with a lot of thought concentrated on the upcoming finish of school. Their last winter provided many memorable moments.

Hardships and easy times were had by many graduating seniors.

Final year influences future lives for seniors

Becoming seniors meant one thing for many: the end of their school lives. It was an influential time for most. New people, new experiences, and new roles as young adults shaped many of their futures. A few seniors expressed their ideas about the way their final year influenced them by saying that when they first came to high school they felt that the school would mold them into mature persons. But during their last year, they realized that by growing up, they had, instead, molded the school and set the pace for the next leaders.

Their last year made seniors realize the true value of education. As seniors, they had a bigger hand in the necessary decision-making. To some, their last year was a testing period for their abilities as future adults. For others, it was their last goodbye to an unretainable era of life that is over.

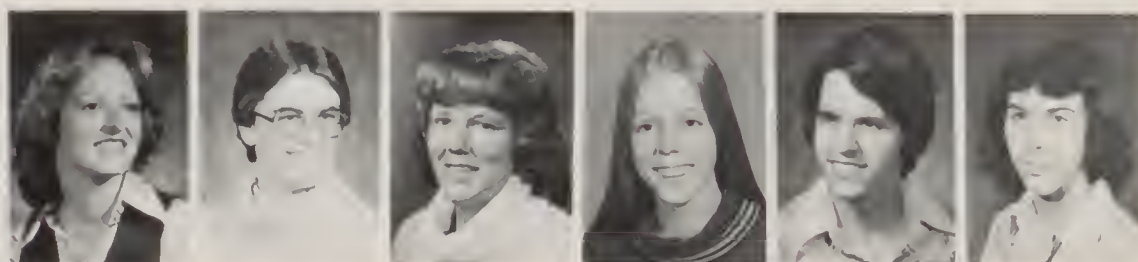

Seniors John Wininger and Jerry Stroud swing sophomore Tom Sly in attempt to help him down the front steps. Seniors aren't always courteous enough to help carry sophomores down the steps in this manner.

In the library, senior John Gardner plunges through books and homework assignments. The library is one of the favorite studying places of students.

Every student knows about studying. All have done it at one time or another. Some students had a little trouble trying to concentrate on their work, though, especially as spring came. Almost everyone got spring-fever, but students seemed to get the worst cases of it.

When spring arrived, school seemed so much more free and open, and there were more places to study. During the winter, one could find students in the library studying at various times of the day. There were other places frequented by students wishing to study, also. Some of those places were in the cafeteria, in between bites at lunch, in the hallways of the new wings, on window ledges, and on stairwells, just to name a few.

There were some seniors with some interesting study habits that helped them through their last year. Some seniors studied in complete silence. Others commented that there had to be some kind of noise, anywhere they studied, or they couldn't think at all. One senior said that she had to have the room as bright as possible, so that it wouldn't make her tired before she was finished.

When to study was as important as where to study. Most studied during the evening or right after school. There were a few who studied in the morning, though, before school.

Some senior characters 'unique', add life to school day activities

There were always some individuals who could be easily spotted and identified. Those were the "characters" whom everyone knew. Some of those well known seniors tried their best to teach the juniors and sophomores things to do when school began to seem a little long. One of those things was the "spoon flipping" championships that were unofficially held in the cafeteria during lunch.

Another funny occurrence came when some unfortunate student dropped his food or silverware or the entire tray — seniors rose, howled with glee, and applauded the "klutz". These same seniors also enjoyed the last minutes of lunchtime by mixing all their leftovers together, including chocolate milk!

Hurrying out of their classroom and down to lunch, their favorite subject, are seniors Jeree Hawkins, Mary Jacobsen, and Tom Henderson. Lunch is a welcomed break in the day.

One long, final look before going on to future

High school years fly by quickly, especially the last one. Seniors will remember some wonderful times, along with a few times that would rather be forgotten. Good or bad, it was still a special time in their lives that they try to retain in their memories.

Many seniors found it hard to leave their school behind. Yet, others were excited about graduating. Some went on to colleges, others got jobs, and a few just took it easy for a while and set goals for themselves.

Becoming an adult was not as easy as it sounded, though. Soon there were responsibilities. Voting was considered a privilege among most future adults. They understood the importance of it, and were excited about playing a part in their community. They began to plan ahead for their futures, and they took their lives very seriously.

Looking at the front of the school and remembering their defeats and accomplishments are seniors Sherman Welker, Becky White, and Mark Trushiem.

Seniors enjoy gifts given by seniors of past

The seniors of '77-'78 had the privilege of being able to use and enjoy plaques, trophy cases, and gifts left by senior classes that had preceded them, gifts not really thought of as "special," but gifts seldom recognized as such by students.

One fairly new item was the plaque in front of the auditorium which displays the school emblem, an emblem designed in 1976 by Eugene Gray a member of the class of 1925. Two of the more noticeable items were new trophy cases in the main entrance of school.

At press time the senior class had not decided on a gift from this years senior class.

Fad: socks fun, fashionable for senior feet

Pet rocks, double-pierced ears, and Hamill haircuts were the rage for 1976-77 senior girls. This year's senior girls like gauchos, the Farrah Fawcett hairdo, and fun-fashionable socks: not regular knee-hi's, but wild, colorful socks.

Sparkle socks, (socks that glitter), helped to show off feet at discos, Rugby socks came along to match the shirts teens were wearing, and there were many kinds of socks that were just for fun, like gorilla socks, (fuzzy), and pet socks (socks with faces).

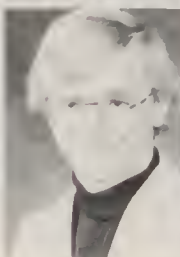

Fad socks take a breather while their senior owners relax. The socks add a little pizzaz to senior girls' wardrobes. The socks above are pet socks, striped socks, gorilla socks, argyle socks, and toe socks.

Seniors work toward dreams of their futures

After a hard day at school, seniors should have time for homework and fun, but for many seniors, work came first. The reasons for working are varied.

Many worked so they could pay for a college education after high school, others worked to support their families, and some worked just to have extra money to spend on gas, dates, food, and in some cases auto insurance.

The type of jobs varied also. Many of the girls worked as waitresses, secretaries, or cashiers. Males usually had jobs like cooks, service station attendants, and shelf stockers.

School spirit important part of senior life

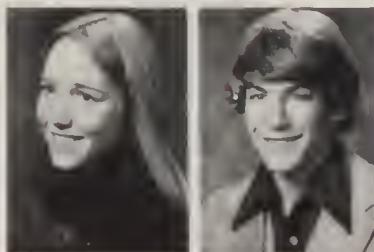

While frantically checking homeroom lists, teachers try to quiet students for the presentation of the flag, but it is a hopeless case. There is too much excitement for students to be still.

This was an event remembered by all who attended the pep assemblies. Seniors contributed their share of pride to the pep section at every assembly and it payed off.

Though the title of the loudest class with the most pep bounced back and forth, the seniors ended up as the class showing the most school spirit. The senior spirit will survive even after seniors are gone.

Beyond unity, friendships will be cherished

Unity, just one of the prime factors that adds up to an outstanding senior class. Relationships and congeniality among seniors will probably never be as cherished in the future as they were during this year, for the simple reason that some will be giving the very last good-bye and good-luck to one another, while a big number will not see their one-time friends for years, if ever.

Juniors have peace before facing pressures

ABOVE: Andy Mentzer, junior, jumps for joy as he is informed by Mr. Bury, band director, that there are no more early band practices, and no more cold feet from marching.

No longer looked down upon by the upperclassmen, the juniors' life, in the middle, was one of confidence and great determination.

They could let out their breath....they were juniors. They faced the agony of being sophomores, but they had not yet become burdened with the decisions and responsibilities of the seniors.

As a junior, a student has his first chance to really get involved in school activities. He knows what is expected of him and is able to prepare for the future with confidence.

However, junioritis, a disease which strikes some juniors when they realize they'll be seniors, was in evidence. Most juniors, though, too, their studies seriously, with an eye on the future and all it held.

Music brings coordination, rhythm, along with entertainment, to classes

More than just hearing a song was gained by having music in French and gym classes. Mrs. Vickroy, gym teacher, taught dancing in gym and felt that students learned rhythm and coordination. Mr. Moore, French teacher, had students sing because it helped them learn how to pronounce words and memorize their meaning.

Responsibility awaits many juniors

The juniors have completed their second year at East. This class has shown their ability in many fields. Along with sports, the juniors participated in many other activities.

A large number of juniors were colorguard members or Steppers and Majorettes. Many juniors in Student Government used their own time to sell hats and pep items during the lunch periods. The majority of all cheerleading squads (except the sophomore squad) were juniors.

For the first time in East High's history, a junior was chosen as the Scarlet Indian.

Many juniors dominated the sports scene. On the girls' basketball court, starting forwards Kari Kramme and Judy Froese led to many victories as Diane Cameron held her own in the guard court.

On the football field, Brad McVey, Dwight Clark, and Randy McGee contributed their valuable talents by pulling through many games.

Among all of these things, the class of '79 seemed to have attained the self-confidence and responsibility to be next year's leaders.

Homecoming draws attention to juniors

One of the festivities during Homecoming week was "Farmers' Day." Most of the participants came in bib overalls or some type of work clothes to imitate hard-working farmers.

Another activity carried out during the week was, "Wear Your Favorite Hat Day." A variety of hats was observed on this day, ranging from an advertised farm-equipment hat to a warm-looking stocking cap.

"Plaids and Stripes Day" seemed to be the most recognized day of the week. Students were seen in different combinations of plaids and stripes.

On the day that students wore the t-shirt of the club or organization they were in, the day was called "Club Day."

Ranges of many different types of formal wear were seen on "Dress-up Day," from casual looking slacks to leisure suits to dresses and skirts.

The class of '79 showed their great lengths of enthusiasm by participating in these unusual Homecoming festivities that took place in the week of October 4-8.

'Best years of their lives' start to fade away

Being in the middle, and almost to the end of their high school careers were the juniors. Many roles were cast, such as that of the athlete, scholar, a combination of the two, or neither of them. Some of these cast roles were sure to turn out as planned, while others did not. By far the school year was molded, shaped, and formed into the individuals' best or worst, depending on how he or she applied himself.

Sophomores adjust to new surroundings

Many new faces were seen around the premises of East last fall. They were the unique class of 1980.

There were definite changes from junior to senior high school, ranging from different campus and lunch regulations to new types of classes and new surroundings.

The class of 1980 was involved in many activities. They had their own sports teams, and also their own cheerleading squad.

The class seemed well adjusted and prepared to complete their last two years at East.

Sophs' interests escape into Student Center

Playing foosball was one of the new freedoms for most of the sophomores at school. They could play foosball, along with pinball and air hockey, as well as watch television during open study hall in the student center.

Another main attraction in the student center was the big Scarlet Indian painted on the wall.

Students could also bring their favorite albums to be played on the stereo.

The library is more than just a place to read

New students found that the library was more than just a place to check out books to read.

Whether it was studying, doing research, reading the newspaper, thumbing through magazines, or using the copying machine, the library was useful to all.

Cheerleaders bring spirit to pep assemblies

Pride and spirit were set off at the pep assemblies with the sophomore cheerleaders' pretty smiles and loud cheers.

They tried to get the students, faculty, and alumni to cheer with them at the basketball games and pep assemblies, and they often succeeded.

Clinics for tryouts were held last spring, and a cheerleading camp was held in the summer. These turned out to be very exciting.

Sophs have trouble finding East elevators

With the "help" of the upperclassmen, the sophomores found it difficult to locate their classes.

After a week, they gave up on finding the elevators which supposedly led to the fourth floor. Later on, they found that the elevators were "out of order."

RIGHT: "Which way?" Sophomores Stephanie Tate, Eric Bogle, and Diane Anderson try to find the elevators.

Go Where? You're Kidding!

Now wait a minute . . . we're not kidding. We are dead serious about your future college plans. Drake University offers special advantages for Des Moines students.

Come to Drake and live on campus. Think about the advantages . . . on your own but close enough to home for "emergencies" like borrowing the car or replenishing the bank account at a moment's notice. Think about the advantage you have over the out-of-towners who don't know the ins-and-outs of your hometown.

Think about the many educational advantages at Drake, too. At Drake we have six undergraduate colleges and schools with over 103 major areas of study to choose from. And when your college days are over, we'll even do all we can to get you a job. That's how much our students mean to us.

There's a lot more happening between Forest and University than you realize. Stop by and let's talk about your future. Or, if you're in a hurry, call us at 271-3181.

Go where? Go to Drake, that's where. So, who's kidding!

It's never too early to start thinking about your future.

What do you want to do? What do you want to be? Would you like to start going places? And doing things?

If you've got questions like these running through your head, you'll find a lot of the right answers in the U.S. Navy.

You'll have a chance to travel. A chance to see something of the world before you settle down.

You'll be able to get your hands on some of the best technical equipment ever made.

And you'll get the kind of training and experience you need to get ahead in life.

So if you want to make something of yourself, get a good start by finishing high school. And then stop in at your local Navy recruiter and find out more about the great future that's waiting for you in the U.S. Navy.

High School is not a time or a place . . .

As we look back upon the 1977-1978 school year, we find that East High was not just a place. The building may long stand, but that is not what made it East High for us. It was the people and the events that, through the years, shaped, molded, and formed what East is today.

In capsulizing the events of that year, we, as the yearbook staff, took great pride in what we did. This was the largest yearbook ever put out at East High. Together with the fall supplement, it totals 236 pages.

In order to promote more unity in the extra-curricular activities, we presented the year in a chronological way, instead of using the previous categorical method.

We found much to work with, because this was a very successful year. It seems as though almost everything improved over previous years. All sports had winning seasons, with football, boys' basketball, and girls' basketball all being only one game away from participating in the coveted State Tournaments. This was our year to remember.

. . . but a state of mind

The story of high school career is summed up by the graduation cap placed on top of many textbooks.

A time for growing, a time for going

There is a right time for everything.

*A time to be born, a time to die;
a time to plant, a time to harvest;
a time to kill, a time to heal;
a time to destroy, a time to rebuild;
a time to cry, a time to laugh;
a time to grieve, a time to dance;
a time for scattering stones,
a time for gathering stones;
a time to hug, a time not to hug;
a time to find, a time to lose;
a time for keeping,
a time for throwing away;
a time to tear, a time to repair;
a time to be quiet, a time to speak up;
a time for loving, a time for hating;
a time for war, a time for peace.*

Ecclesiastes 3:1-8

There was a time for you, as students, to do the things you did in 1977-1978. You defeated and you were defeated, you lost and you gained. You came and you went.

You were a very integral part of school life in 1977 and 1978, till you disappeared. You then went on to become a very integral part elsewhere.

Seniors make their last stance in the hallways at East. Although they will not be seen when they leave, visions of their past will remain.

Seniors enjoy speeches, awards at breakfast

Every year the seniors are treated to a continental breakfast known as Senior Breakfast. On April 13, the tradition was carried on again.

The activities started at 7 a.m. with breakfast being served by members of the junior class. Breakfast included sausage, scrambled eggs, a roll, milk, and orange juice. As the eating continued, different members of the faculty and senior class presented speeches.

The guest speaker was Pastor Tom Allen from First Federated Church. His thoughts ranged from how each different individual was important to the fact that nobody was a mistake.

Along with the serious side of bringing all the seniors together for the last time, the breakfast had its humorous points. For instance, Mr. Richard Johnson presented Big "E" awards. They ranged from the "Motor Mouth" award going to Linda Selover to the "Tardy but Hardy" award going to Georgia Glasgow. The "Bench Warmer for Bags" award went to Don Smith, with Randy Duncan receiving the "Mr. Klutz" award. The two chairpersons in charge of the breakfast were Joan Green and Marilee Fors.

Entertainment for the breakfast was provided by the senior members of Scarlet Singers. They sang "Sunshine on My Shoulders," which was the theme of the breakfast.

Prom: highlight event of seniors' last school year

Once again it was time for many seniors and juniors to prepare themselves for this year's Junior-Senior Prom.

This festive event took place on Saturday, May 6. It was held at the Olmsted Center on the Drake University Campus.

"Good-bye Doesn't Mean Forever" was chosen for this year's theme and pastels prevailed in the decorations. Bob Dutch and his band filled the atmosphere with fast and slow music, which invited couples to dance. Punch and refreshments were served.

Highlighting the evening was the coronation of the king and queen. The class officers and the Senior Board were introduced, forming an aisle for the Prom Court.

Excitement and loud applause enhanced the room with the announcing of the queen, Brenda Fisher, and the king, Pat Shelley. The couple danced to the theme song, "Good-bye Doesn't Mean Forever," followed by their court, and finally everybody was invited to join in.

An annual event, Prom was considered by many to be one of the highlights of the senior year. It is a sentimental experience because to many it may be their last high school dance. But remember, seniors, "Good-bye Doesn't Mean Forever."

Some have tears, some cheers, some fears

What began some years ago has finally drawn to a close. Beginning September 2, 1965, and ending May 23, 1978, another class has completed their 13 years of education in the public schools.

Class Day May 19, 1978, was an emotion-filled day. Many memories flashed through the minds of the graduating seniors. The assembly included award presentations, recognition of scholarship recipients, the valedictorian speech, presentation of honor cords to the top three and 15 percent of the class, and various other events.

Graduating seniors, as well as those who've gone before them, will have new doors opened to them, with new roads awaiting them; it will be a new and different lifestyle from now on.

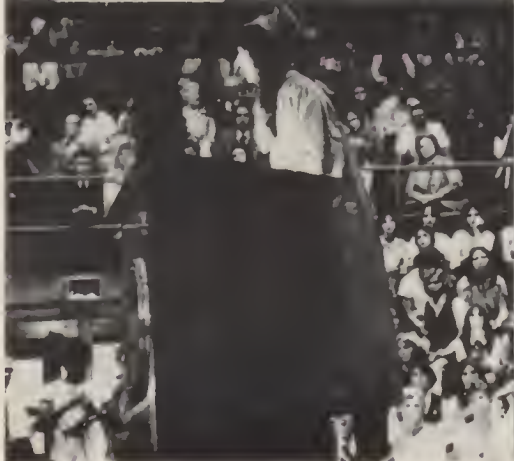

So to the graduating class of 1978: "The Best of Luck."

EAST HIGH GRADUATION TUE 8 PM

Variety of emotions felt as seniors graduate

Nice night, sunny and warm. Isn't it time to start yet? It's getting hot in here. I'm bored. I wish they would hurry up; I want to go celebrate. You mean they're only on the h's? Finally, it's over! I'm an alumnus.

These are just a few of the thoughts and emotions that were felt by the seniors and those attending the commencement exercises on Tuesday evening, May 23.

The ceremony began with the 489 graduates proceeding in, wearing their scarlet caps and gowns, as the band played the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance."

Commencement speaker was Mr. Tom Whitney, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, member of the Polk County Board of Supervisors, and East High alumnus.

The moment the seniors had been waiting for for 13 years came when Mrs. Jack Spevak, member of The Board of Education, made the presentation of the diplomas and the senior roll call began.

Many smiles were seen on the faces of proud parents and elated seniors, and as always there was a lot of celebrating going on until the early hours of the morning.

Graduating from high school is a milestone in the life of a student and his family. Many seniors went on to college to acquire a higher education, while others started their working career. No matter where their roads lead them, they will still remember "Dear East High" and the night of commencement.

"The Wizard of Oz" is remembered once again

Everyone must remember the classical TV movie, "The Wizard of Oz." It has been on television for many years. The theme song, "Somewhere Over the Rainbow," will never tire anyone.

On April 13 and 14, the Drama Department, directed by Ms. Gaines, presented a non-musical version of the "Wizard of OZ," consisting of two matinees and two evening performances.

Costumes were designed by each cast member, who designed his own.

Several actors and actresses played dual roles; for example, Deb Christian, Lisa Crowell, Lola Jacobs, and Arnie Short were munchkins and monkeys. Roger Freerksen played Uncle Henry and an Ozite.

The scenery had a great affect on the play. It was under the direction of Mr. Waller.

Dorothy, played by Cindy Colburn, unites in a moment of silence and quietness with her Aunt Em and Uncle Henry.

Brad Brown, Russ Stiles spark track team

Spearheading the boys' track team were seniors Brad Brown in distance running and Russ Stiles in dashes.

During the season Brad Brown won the mile run five times and qualified for the state meet by placing first in the 1,600 run.

The 100-yard dash proved to be Russ Stiles' specialty as he won that event every time up to the Metro meet, where he placed second. Claude Frazier was also a state qualifier, as he finished second in the 400-yard run.

The Urbandale Invitational proved to be a good day for the distance medley team as they set a new school record with a time of 8:18.9. The members were Harold Sanford, Claude Frazier, Mark Crawford, and Brad Brown.

Senior Ted Graves pours it on as he hits the final lap to the finish line at the Ames Invitational.

"As a team, everybody improved," commented Coach Koroch, as new records were set by the girls' track team.

Kari Kramme showed her hurdling power as she broke records in both the 110-meter hurdles in a time of 14.9 and in the 220-low hurdles with a time of 31.2. Kari missed qualifying for the state finals by 1/10 second.

Sue Tarr, Genell Phillips, and Teresa

Satterfield also set new records. Sue ran the mile in 5.40, Genell owns the 880-yard run record at 2.30, and Teresa ran the 440-yard dash in a record time of 63 seconds flat.

The final record belongs to the mile relay team of Joann Ollie, Colleen Collette, Cheryl Harne, and Teresa Satterfield.

The team started out with 45 girls but dropped to 20 at the season's end.

With rackets in hand, team swings into action

Coordination and skill are just a couple of characteristics it takes to be a tennis player.

If the weather permitted, the players practiced every night for an hour and a half, and on their own after team practice.

Ranking in the top 10 were seniors Kent Dalrymple and Dave Dearden (team captains); sophomore Chip Wells, freshman Todd Roorda; juniors Gary Letze, Brett Mauk, Larry Letze, Tony Turner, Ron Utley; senior Arnie Short.

Leading the way were the six returning letterwinners: seniors Kent Dalrymple, Dave Dearden; juniors Gary Letze, Larry Letze, Brett Mauk, sophomore Chip Wells.

Because of wind and cold, Ankeny proved to be the toughest match of the season. East won 5-4.

"It is a very young team and should have a great future," commented Coach Thompson.

Girls' Tennis goes through rebuilding year

Mrs. Knott described the girls' tennis season as a "rebuilding year." Lack of experience was evident in the fact that there were no seniors on the team and two freshmen started during the season. Eight juniors, three sophomores, and seven freshmen accounted for the 18 members of the team.

Bad weather caused the team to practice inside quite often, as cold and rainy days were frequent.

The players were ranked numerically, with the top player being number one. The top five played the five singles matches, and combined to play the one and two doubles. Players six through nine played doubles three and four.

The returning letterwinners from last years team were Dawn Ver Steeg, Sue Deitch, and Audrey Tindrell.

Golf is a sport that takes a lot of concentration and skill, as shown by the 1977-78 boys' golf team. The boys put in many hours of practice at Grandview, Blank, and Waveland Parks, under the direction of Coach Cowles. Many of the players have played for East for four years.

The team captains and outstanding players were seniors Brian Mesenbrink and Todd Nelson. Returning letterwinners were Brian Mesenbrink, Todd Nelson, Mark Zapf, Steve Devin, Craig Johnson, Brett Loukota, Bill Sloane; junior Jim Merriam; sophomore Kraig Kramme.

The boys placed first in the S.E. Polk Invitational; seventh in the Valley Classic; and sixth in the Knoxville Invitational. "We enjoyed one of our better seasons!" commented Coach Cowles.

Returning for her third year, junior Carrie Tharp was one among seven girls who braved the weather to play golf. When the weather permitted, they played most of their matches at Grandview golf course, but occasionally some matches were held at other city golf courses.
